FILIBUSTERING DEATH ENDS THE 65TH CONGRESS

Washington, March 4—The sixty fifth congress died at noon today strangled by a filibuster. As the final gavel fell in the senate on the stroke of noon, it cut short a speech begun at 7:30 a. m. today by Senator Sherman, Illinois, which blocked the transaction of all business. All roads led to the senate and of the capitol, for it was there that the filibuster raged all night long, and through the final hours of what has been one of the most tumultuous sessions of the American congress. It was there also that President Wilson, with a trace of anger in his eye and a set to his jaw—but wearing his usual smile at times—signed last minute bills and cleaned up the business of the session.

Washington, March 4—Senate Republicans today carried into the closing hours of the sixty-fifth congress their defiance of Democratic demand for passage of appropriation bills. After an all night filibuster, Senator Sherman announced shortly after 8 o'clock that unless he dropped dead the general deficiency bill carrying $750,000,000 for the railroads would not pass. If Sherman and other republicans carry out this threat it means that not only will all pending appropriation measures fail but several important nominations must go unacted on. These include A. Mitchell Palmer, for attorney general; John Skelton Williams as comptroller of the currency and General Robert E. Noble as a brigadier general in the medical corps. Democratic leaders mustered their weary force just after dawn to discuss means of breaking the filibuster so that the administration's insistent pleas for money might be adopted.

The all-night filibuster was a final republican attempt to force President Wilson to change his mind about delaying the extra session until after his return from France. Senator Martin, appropriation committee chairman, was so emphatic in his demand that republicans let the deficiency bill pass, that the republicans decided this measure might prove a better means of forcing the extra session immediately than the victory loan bill. While the senate watched the filibuster, the house passed a resolution urging the peace conference to act favorably on Irish independence. The vote was 216 to 41.

The rest of the night was spent in listening to Rep. Walsh's minority report on the national security league investigation and in calling the roll. The filibuster in the senate began at 11:15 a. m. yesterday with a speech by Senator Sherman. The night was marked by bitter assaults on President Wilson. Charges of gross mismanagement of the country's affairs was made by La Follette and Sherman. Lenroot declared the president refuses to call an extra session at once because he fears debate on the league of nations may turn public opinion against his league plan. The republican attacks were strongly tinged with personal bitterness against the President. His reported criticism of his opponents as men of "pigmy minds" whose heads are "knobs to keep their bodies from unraveling" added to his unpopularity. Sherman took this up in a sarcastic speech, shortly after midnight in which he referred to Wilson and Taft as "luncheon statesmen."

"These distinguished statesmen are always heroes at some luncheon or pink tea," said Sherman. "They will soon be a distinct class known as the Male Luncheonettes."

HUNS MUST PAY ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY BILLIONS

Paris, March 4.—The Peace Conference Committee on Reparations has estimated that $120,000,000,000 is the amount the enemy countries ought to pay the allied army associated Powers, says a Havas Agency statement. France, the statement adds, demands immediate payment by the enemy of $5,000,000,000, part in gold, part in materials and part in foreign securities, recommending that the remainder of the amount be payable in a period of from 25 to 35 years.

THAT LUCKY THIRTEEN

President Wilson is leaving Washington just 13 weeks to a day—his lucky number—from the time he started on his first trip to France. If the George Washington hits her usual pace, she will arrive in Brest March 13. "And he probably has signed 1300 letters, bills and papers during the week he has been home," said one of the President's clerks today. "And worked at least 13 hours a day."

ABOLITION OF DEATH PENALTY IS ADVOCATED

Columbus, March 4.—The fight to secure abolition of capital punishment in Ohio has been renewed by representative Evans, Lucas county. A bill he is packing would make life imprisonment the maximum punishment for crime. He would take away from the governor the right to grant pardons to life termers and would make it possible for a person to be released only after new evidence in retrial had established innocence.

Substantial increases in salary for Ohio Judges are provided in a bill introduced in the house, by Representative Bliss, Cuyahoga county. Bliss wants the Chief Justice of the supreme court paid $10,500 a year instead of $7,500 and the six associate judges $10,000 a year instead of $6,500. He would pay all appellate judges $9,000 a year and all common pleas judges $3,000 a year with an additional $25 for each one thousand population in their county.

Presidents of banks will be compelled to furnish a list of their safe deposit box renters to the county auditor who then may co-operate with the county taxers in quizzing the renters as to the contents of the boxes, under a bill introduced by Rep. Evans, Lucas county.

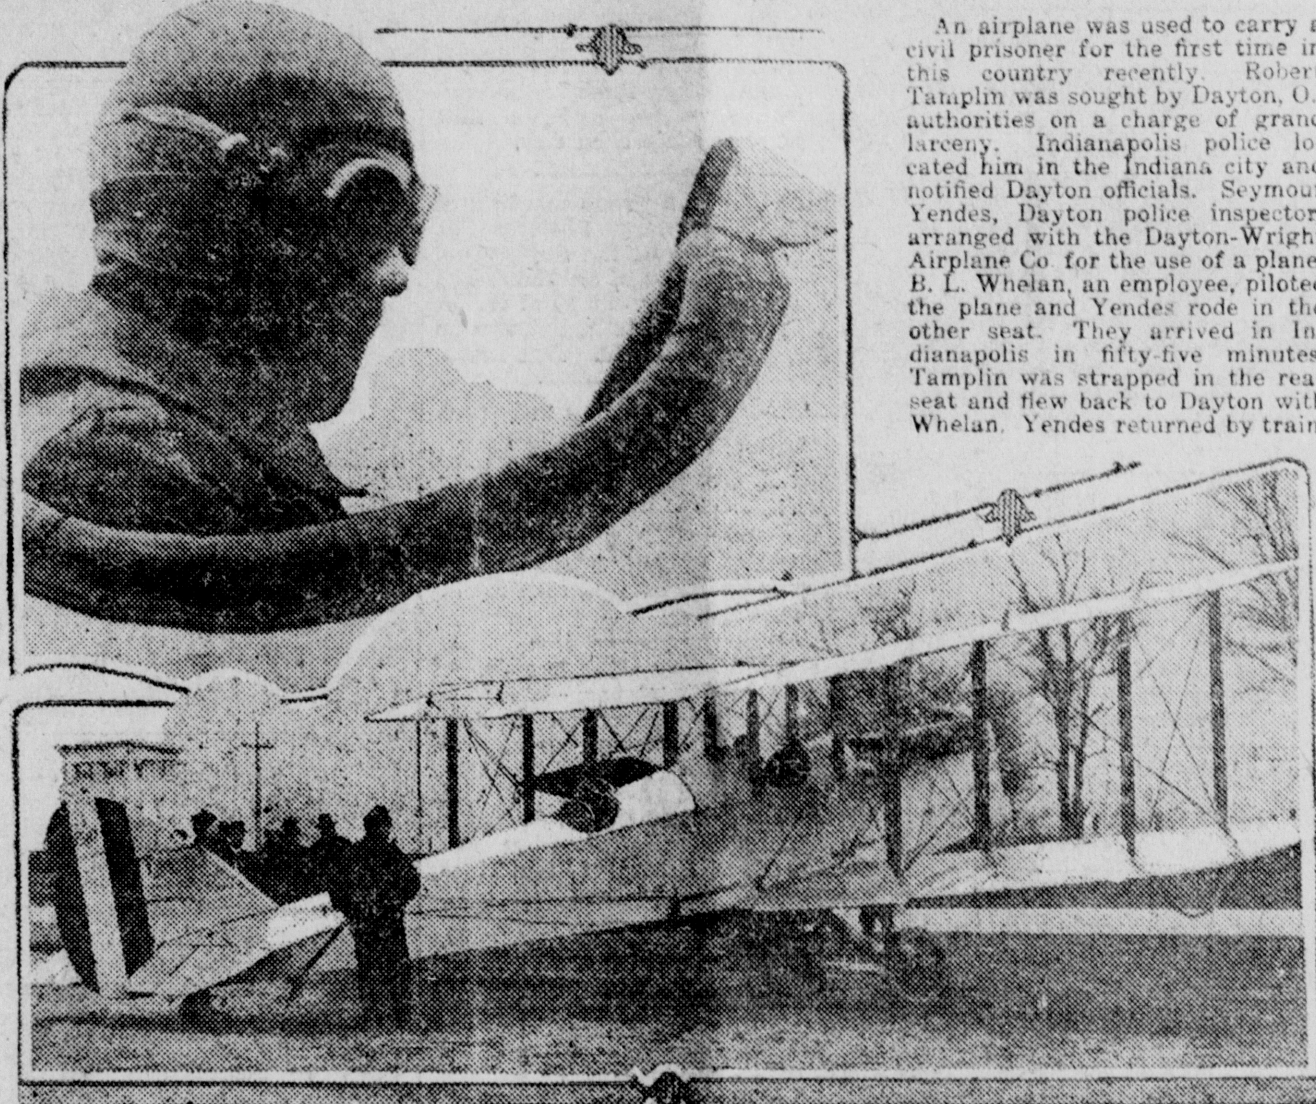

Rep. Federman, Hamilton county in a bill would permit the people of a city to vote on the question of Sunday theaters and other amusements after 1:30 p. m. The maximum interurban passenger fare in Ohio will not exceed two cents a mile under a bill introduced by Rep. Cable, Stark county.

Representative Comings, Lorain county, has a bill to compel private and parochial schools to submit to the state school superintendent, all text books used by them and puts it up to the superintendent to weed out anything in them that is un-American. The bill also provides that religious instructions shall not be made the major study in any elementary or high school.

Whelan, an employee, piloted the plane and Yendes rode in the other seat. They arrived in Indianapolis in fifty-five minutes. Tamplin was strapped in the rear seat and flew back to Dayton with Whelan. Yendes returned by train.

THIRTY SEVEN SENATORS ARE AGAINST LEAGUE

BY L. C. MARTIN.

Washington, March 4.—President Wilson will carry back to France with him the knowledge that thirty-seven members of the next senate are pledged to defeat his league of nation plan in its present form.

This number is four more than the 33 votes necessary to prevent ratification of a treaty. Following a night of bitter discussion which was still raging against the president at 8 o'clock this morning, a review of the situation disclosed that 37 senators, of whom some will come in the next congress, are pledged that the league constitution in its present form, should not be accepted by the United States.

That a peace treaty concluding the war should be hastened and the league proposal postponed until after the treaty is finished.

This was the substance of a resolution presented by Senator Lodge, Massachusetts, around midnight. In presenting the resolution he was careful to read it so that it would be spread on the record. He sent it to the desk with the request for unanimous consent for immediate consideration.

Like a flash Senator Swanson, Virginia, objected. Lodge, anticipating this, said:

"I now wish to read, in explanation, the following names of members of the 65th congress and members-elect of the 66th, who if they had been given an opportunity, would have voted for this resolution."

Amid dead silence from the Democrats and the packed galleries, Lodge read the names of the 37.

There was a hush for a moment after he had finished. Every one turned to the Democratic side expecting a storm of protest and condemnation from the Democrats—but not a word came. In a moment Senator Trammell, Florida, began speaking calmly on the general deficiency bill, the pending measure.

WILSON DETERMINED NOT TO CALL EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS

Washington, March 4.—President Wilson is still determined not to call an extra session of congress, despite the action of Senate republicans, it was officially stated at the White House this morning.

"The president has not changed any of his announced intentions an iota," Secretary Tumulty said.

THIRTY SEVEN SENATORS ARE AGAINST LEAGUE

There is someone in every family who has a big responsibility. Food to buy for the table; clothes for the children and grown-ups; new household utensils, linen, furniture, books and all the hundred and one little things for which the family income is spent.

In most families, one person does the bulk of the buying. And it is that person's job to see that the money is well spent—that you all get full value for every cent that goes out.

The success of a family depends on wise buying just as the success of a business does. Wise buying means intelligent buying. It is necessary to have knowledge of goods and stores.

The best way to get this knowledge is by reading advertisements. They tell you what is new and good. They tell you where and when to buy to advantage.

Not only the person who does the buying but every member of the family should read advertisements. It is the duty of all the others to help the one who does the buying by pointing out advertisements of new goods and giving all the information possible as to tastes and styles and values. Advertisements are published for your benefit. Make use of them by reading them.

NEW YORK HARBOR COMPLETELY TIED UP BY A STRIKE

New York, March 4.—New York harbor was completely tied up today by a strike of the Marine Workers Affiliation, effecting practically all the men on the harbor and river craft around this city. It is estimated that 16,000 men quit work at 6 o'clock this morning.

Government craft were exempt from the strike order. The rivers and bay looked deserted. With only a few small boats visible this morning. Ferries were halted, and service on tubes under the Hudson River was jammed. Many commuters however were forced to cross the river in launches.

The strike was believed to have been diverted but at a meeting last night the men voted not to accept the Macy award of an 8-hour day without an increase in wages. Union leaders declare this will be a fight to the finish.

PRESIDENT SCORES SENATE REPUBLICANS

Washington, March 4.—President Wilson today officially blamed senate republicans for the "impaired efficiency" of the government.

Upon adjournment of congress President Wilson issued this statement:

"A group of men in the senate have deliberately chosen to embarrass the administration of the government to impair the financial interests of the railway system of the country and to make arbitrary use of powers intended to be employed in the interests of the people."

"It is plainly my present duty to attend the peace conference in Paris. It is also my duty to be in close contact with the public business during the session of congress. I must make my choice between these two duties and I confidently hope that the people of the country will think that I am making the right choice. It is not in the interest of the right conduct of public affairs that I should call the congress in a special session while it is impossible for me to be in Washington because of a more pressing duty elsewhere, to co-operate with the houses. I take it for granted that the men who have obstructed and prevented the passage of necessary legislation have taken all of this into consideration and are willing to assume the responsibility of the impaired efficiency of the government and the embarrassed finances of the country during the time of my enforced absence."

There was every indication that the struggle between the proletariat and the Bourgeoisie will not go to a finish. The people here this evening appeared unperturbed by the latest turn in the political situation. The government announced there will be no compromise with terrorism. ENFORCEMENT BILL IS RECOMMENDED FOR PASSAGE NEXT WEEK

Columbus, March 4.—The joint temperance committee of the Ohio legislature today reported out and recommended for passage the amended Miller-Crabbe dry enforcement bill.

The message will appear on the legislative calendar for passage early next week.

The administrative bill, creating a prohibition commissioner department, also introduced by Senator Miller and Rep. Crabbe will be out in shape this week and reported out of committee next week.

The enforcement bill, as it will go to the general assembly for passage, does not permit a search for liquor or beverages in private homes unless the dwellings become known as "public resorts."

Columbus, March 4.—Henry Allard, 38, whose real name is said to be Henderson Bandy, was being held in county jail today for investigation in connection with the murder of H. R. Day, Lancaster taxi cab driver, near here the night of Feb. 9. His arrest is the result of a tip given by Maggie Steegle, a woman friend, to Sheriff Slack. He told her, she says, he murdered Day.

PRESIDENT LEAVES WASHINGTON IN THE MIDST OF THE MOST BITTER FIGHT OF HIS STRENUOUS CAREER

Returning to France to Complete his work on a League of Nations he leaves behind him the definite assurance that sufficient republican senators have pledged themselves to defeat ratification of the league if it is presented to the next senate in its present form.

The issue is clear-cut. Every republican senator who has been seriously spoken of as a presidential possibility has aligned himself against the president's league plan. Borah came out early against the covenant and Hiram Johnson, Lodge, Harding and Watson, all of whom have booms under way for the republican nomination, have pledged themselves against it.

The fate of the league rests now in the hands of the rank and file of the American people. On their decision when it is finally taken up, will depend whether William Taft and those republicans out of congress who favor the present league document will control the republican party in 1920 or whether Lodge and his colleagues in the senate will be in the saddle when the campaign year rolls around.

It was stated by republicans in the senate today that the idea of approaching democratic solons for signatures on the Lodge resolution was abandoned primarily because the republicans wished to make the league document a party issue and go before the country in an aggressive campaign, staking everything on the people's decision.

"The president's friends say this is agreeable to him and they believe, that if necessary, he may even stand for re-election in 1920 with the league movement as the issue.

What he will do directly in reply to the resolution and signed document presented by Senator Lodge was the subject of much conjecture today. He is reported extremely bitter about the action of the republican leader, believing it may have serious effect abroad.

That the president will counter with a strong reply when he speaks, together with former President Taft in New York tonight, is accepted as certain.

It will be his last appeal to the Americans from his own shores before his return to the peace conference.

NEW REVOLUTION IN BERLIN TO BE BEGUN WITH STRIKE

FRANK J. TAYLOR

Berlin, March 4.—Following a special caucus late today independent socialists called a general strike against the government effective at 8 o'clock tomorrow.

The independents demand political recognition of the soviets and overthrow of the Scheidemann cabinet.

Berlin, March 4.—Independent socialists decided this afternoon to call a general strike in Berlin Wednesday morning as the signal for a new revolution.

The strike which will be purely political in character, is expected to continue until the present government is overthrown. The independent's counsel against violence "except in retaliation."

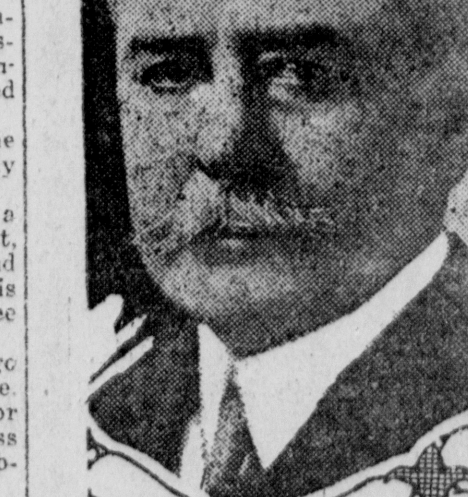

They expect the strike to spread to all parts of the country. The government announced there will be no compromise with terrorism. There was every indication that the struggle between the proletariat and the Bourgeoisie will not go to a finish. The people here this evening appeared unperturbed by the latest turn in the political situation.

THOUSANDS APPEAL FOR CHANCE TO HEAR WILSON AND TAFT

New York, March 4.—"No; I'm sorry they're all gone."

These were the words repeated many times yesterday and today by an extra corps of telephone girls in the offices of Abram I. Elkus to thousands of applicants for tickets to the meeting at which President Wilson and former President Taft are to speak in defense of the League of Nations in the Metropolitan Opera House tonight.

Not a few of the applicants were inclined to be disputatious. Others told of relationship to United States Senators. A Wall-street banker offered to subscribe $1,000 to any charity in exchange for a ticket. The answer to all was the same.

"No; I'm sorry; there isn't one left." A woman appeared, holding fast to the hand of a boy, whom she said she had brought from Chicago to hear the President. She wept bitterly when informed not one ticket was to be obtained.

About 300,000 mail applications have been received, more than a ton of which still remained unopened today. Never in this city, it was declared, has there been such a demand for admission to hear any one speak.

A Citizen of Fayette County, Ohio told us early last week that if he was satisfied that his money would be absolutely safe, and would earn not less than 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, and that if the stock was non-taxable in Ohio, he would take some of the stock of The American Mortgage Company of Cincinnati.

After a careful investigation of the facts about the company, its manner of loaning its capital exclusively for Construction Loans and First and Second Mortgages on Improved Real Estate in Cincinnati and other cities of the Ohio Valley, and after securing opinions from leading bankers of Cincinnati and Washington C. H., Ohio, we received his subscription last Thursday for $10,000 of the stock, with his check for $10,000 in full payment. This was but one of a number of substantial subscriptions last week.

We are offering American Mortgage Stock at par value, $100 per share, subject to advance in price shortly. The company is an Ohio corporation and all the shares are Common Stock, and you thus share in all the net profits of the company, and not only in a part, as when you buy preferred stocks or short-term notes.

To increase your income, and secure an interesting and safe investment, you owe it to yourself to investigate this splendid opportunity at once—especially if you wish to get in at the initial offering price.

You may mail your subscription for any number of shares desired, at par, $100 per share, payable in cash or 20 per cent. down and the balance to suit your convenience; or you are cordially invited to write or call on our special representative, Mr. Charles Mullis, at Hotel Grand for full particulars.

The Fordson Is More Than a TRACTOR

It has proven to be such an economical, efficient, durable tractor that it pays for itself within a few months' time if used only for plowing, discing, harrowing and other field work.

But the Fordson is more than a tractor. It is an economical, powerful portable power plant that will drive any kind of belt-driven farm implements.

With this power plant you don't have to spend valuable time dragging around a heavy cumbersome gas engine.

Down in the wood lot, sawing up the winter fuel—up in the barn yard, filling the silo—baling hay—grinding feed—everywhere on the farm, every day in the year, there are jobs for this wonderful, portable power plant.

The Fordson is provided with a belt pulley placed at the right side of the transmission housing. It is driven thru a beveled gear with a pulley at the right hand side, and the belt running forward, it is easy for the driver to line up the pulley properly without leaving his seat.

The powerful Fordson engine is 22 horse power, at the pulley at 1000 R. P. M. This is ample power to do any work on the farm. The pulley is 9 inches in diameter, and is designed for a six inch belt.

Don't think of the Fordson merely as a tractor, think of it as one durable, efficient power unit that not only replaces the horse on the field work, but also replaces the gasoline engine, besides doing scores of jobs that have formerly been done by hand.

Come in or call us up and we will show you just why this tractor has proven such a remarkable success—why farmers are buying them by the thousands every month. You will be interested in learning how we handle the service.

Also we carry a full line of accessories and do repairing, vulcanizing, carry implements for the tractor and in fact anything you want along our line.

ELKS OF XENIA
ELECT W. B. HILL
EXALTED RULER

Elks feasted and fested at the meeting and election of officers held by Xenia Lodge, No. 668, in their home at Second and Whiteman streets Monday evening. About 100 Elks were present at the meeting.

W. B. Hill was re-elected Exalted Ruler for the fourth consecutive term at the meeting and the following officers were elected: William Coley, Lecturing Knight; Lester John Estemed Leading Knight; S. G. Phillips, Loyal Knight; William Baxley, Secretary; Homer Parker Treasurer. District Deputy Sidney G. Kusworm addressed the assembled Elks and delivered an interesting talk on lines of interest to the organization.

Mr. Kusworm is a Dayton attorney and a splendid speaker and his address was well received. Following his lecture to the members of the order concerning the affairs of the order Mr. Kusworm launched into a most eloquent address in which he referred to the splendid part the order of Elks had had in the world war. He gave facts concerning the participation of Elks in the war which reflects great credit on the order. Thirty thousand

Elks fought in army and navy. Heading the list of Elks in the service was no less a personage than General John J. Pershing. The list also includes two Major Generals, six Brigadier Generals, 80 Colonels, 85 Lieutenant Colonels, 400 Majors, 1600 Captains and 4700 Lieutenants. In the navy there were one Rear Admiral, 12 Captains, 4 Commanders, 20 Lieutenant Commanders, 100 Lieutenants and 150 Ensigns.

The Grand Lodge of Elks bought $2,000,000 of Liberty Bonds, gave $300,000 to the Red Cross, $100,000 to the Y. M. C. A. and its crowning achievement was the gift of a $1,000,000 reconstruction hospital for wounded soldiers which was turned over to the government in November. This is regarded by Secretary of War Baker as the greatest gift ever made by a fraternal organization to any government on earth. A hospital of the same character to be located at New Orleans has been offered by the Elks and accepted by the government.

KEEP GOAT IN BACK GARDEN

All Kinds of Reasons Why the Newlyweds Should Give Some Consideration to the Animal.

The cartoonist, with whom the Newlyweds are a favorite if somewhat hackneyed subject, may sharpen a fresh pencil; the day is coming, if not already here, when the joys and sorrows of young wedlock may be pictured from a new angle. We are familiar with the Newlyweds' bungalow, with their baby, with their Tia Lizzie, fruitful of mishaps; soon with these stock possessions may be listed another—witt, a goat.

One may keep a goat in the ordinary city or suburban back yard, Eleanor Anstruther writes in Sunset. No extensive pasturage is required as in the case of the cow. If a vacant lot or brushy hillside be available, a goat will thrive on what it can glean there, though a cow, horse, or even a sheep might starve. But our suburbanite Newlyweds presumably must keep their goat within the confines of their own back garden. Very well; every one may still be happy, including the goat. For the goat will contentedly resolve into milk and mutton any kind of vegetable or green stuff that grows in the garden. Weeds enchant her; she will eagerly devour, and with great profit to herself and owner, the results of a strenuous morning's weeding on the part of Mr. Newlywed. By-products of the kitchen, such as the parings of fruit and vegetables, are welcome, though it must always be remembered that contrary to general belief the goat is a clean feeder; the garbage must go to the chickens, not to the goat.

Briefly, a single goat may almost be kept on the waste from a garden, and the feed of a cow will maintain seven or eight goats.

Does morning find you with a lame, stiff and aching back? Are you tired all the time—find work a burden? Have you suspected your kidneys? Xenia people endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on their statements.

Mrs. W. I. Smith, 28 Walnut St., Xenia, says: "A few years ago I had kidney trouble that about used me up. I ached from the small of my back up into the back of my head. I was also dizzy and nervous and every time I did much of anything, I began to get tired out and would be awfully weak. Sometimes, I could hardly do any work. A neighbor advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, but as I had tried so many different kidney remedies, I didn't think they would help. She finally persuaded me to give Doan's a trial and they entirely cured me. I have never felt better than since I used Doan's Kidney Pills."

Mrs. G. Followell the Advice of a Friend and Took Pepsinco.

For many years Mrs. G. suffered with indigestion. She could get no help. She doctored and took almost every remedy friends would suggest, but got little relief. She lost in weight till she was apparently nothing but skin and bone. What she ate caused misery and pain. She would bloat and was seldom without headache. Nothing agreed with her. She would get up with a bad taste, coated tongue and a feeling of dizziness. The sight—the odor of savory foods nauseated her. She passed the day in misery and went to bed tired, worn-out and hungry.

A friend finally prevailed on Mrs. G. to try Pepsinco, which she did. A small package proved to her that it was what she needed. In two months time she gained her normal weight and gives credit to Pepsinco.

OLD FOLKS TAKE NEW LEASE ON LIFE

They All Look Into the Future With Confidence

This is the situation of hundreds of elderly men and women that have had their youth and health restored in such a short time. Aged men and women who have been steadily declining to the regret and dismay of fond relatives and friends are now hale and hearty, active both mentally and physically. Life to them has renewed the joys and pleasant anticipation of youth, where before it meant the usual steady progress down hill, with the decline and useless burden to themselves and everybody around. How they all dread this and how unnecessary it is.

A lively "old timer" said to our reporter, "I am now seventy years of age and my wife sixty-five and we both feel that any remedy that will truly build up the strength and increase the power of endurance of people of our age should be known to every nervous run down, man woman and child. Phosphated Iron did the work for both of us, and we made up our minds to let all of our friends know about it. Take it from us we certainly have spread the gospel of Phosphated Iron through this neighborhood, so much so that hardly a day goes by without some of our friends stopping to thank us for putting them wise to such a splendid preparation."

Our city is full of just such experiences. There are thousands of men and women in all walks of life who need a strength and blood building nerve tonic, but do not know what to take. For this there is nothing like good old Iron and Phosphates in the right combination "Phosphated Iron" to give increased strength, snap, vigor and staying power together with freedom from all nerve troubles. It enriches the blood, feeds starved nerves, brings a full healthy color to the cheeks, is an unfailing source of renewed vitality, endurance and power for men and women who burn up their nervous energies too rapidly in this day of strenuous business and social competition.

Iron and Phosphates have been known to Doctors for years as being absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food to healthy, strong, live nourishment and make nerves like iron. Phosphated Iron will do this for you. Try it today and be a "live one" again. "Come back," it can be done, the proof is everywhere around you.

Special Notice: To insure doctors and their patients getting the Genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to sell you pills or tablets.

TALK OF KILLING THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Never since the celebrated "anti-organ" campaign of thirty-five or forty years ago, have United Presbyterian church circles been so deeply stirred as at the present time. And no wonder.

A large and influential body of the membership has issued a call for a meeting of the members and friends of the church to be held in the Second U. P. Church, Pittsburgh, next Tuesday and Wednesday, March 11th and 12th, for prayer and conference over the question of union with the Presbyterian church.

We count as signers in the elaborate, whole page call, as published in the "United Presbyterian" newspaper of February 20th, the names of over seventy-five ministers, most of whom are D. D.'s, which shows the high character of the proposed cogitation; besides quite a number of prominent laymen.

The call speaks of the question having been more or less prominent before the church for a long time, some favoring and others opposing the movement, and suggests that "all need light and guidance on the subject." It says: "The two churches are one in the statement of their belief in the great essential doctrines of Christianity, in their evangelistic and missionary aims and in their forms of organization and government. And we have wondered whether the things that keep the Presbyterian Church and the United Presbyterian Church apart today are more important or essential than were the things that separated the Associate and Associate Reformed Church prior to the union of 1858." (This union, it will be remembered, made the United Presbyterian church.)

Among the prominent names signed to the call are those of J. Knox Montgomery, President of Muskingum college; Huber Ferguson, W. J. McMichael, J. E. Wishart of Xenia, J. M. Wishart, of Washington, Iowa; and W. I. Wishart of Pittsburgh.

The natural inference from the favorable wording of the call is that the signers thereof favor the suggested union of the United Presbyterian church with the Presbyterian church for the reasons given. This being so, the call evidently means serious business for the U. P. denominations; for many will resist most strenuously any such union.

In scarcely anything else in the world are people more wrapped up than in their church association, and to talk of disavowing it is downright grief to them. They love their church as part of their life. They want to live and die in it. So the brethren who propose throwing away their distinctive religious affiliations are likely to find earnest opponents.

Indeed such are already in the field. One stalwart defender of the peculiar tenets of the United Presbyterian church is our own Dr. Joseph Kyle, President of our Theological Seminary. He is out in a full page answer to this call and smites the perturbed brethren hip and thigh, as follows:

"The source of the issue of this call is not indicated save by the personal appeals of those who are preparing for its publication. No court of the Church—no congregation even—has assumed the responsibility of urging such a conference. Evidently, like similar movements in recent years, this call has its origin in the minds of individuals, more or less numerous, who have zealously given themselves to the service of bringing about this union. If the desire for such union is as widely prevalent as the authors of the call seem to believe, it is passing strange that no formal action has been taken by synod, presbytery, or session, to bring the subject before the Church in constitutional manner."

"The call argues that after union we shall be able to affect vitally the doctrine and spirit of the united Church. This is sheer assumption. Cold facts point in precisely the opposite direction. There is little reason to doubt that a large majority of the ministers of the Presbyterian Church are soundly evangelical. How comes it, notwithstanding that this great Church has practically no control over the teachers in some of her theological seminaries, and can only fold her hands and sigh when certain of her presbyteries license young men who refuse to accept fundamental doctrines of her faith? How much will her doctrine and spirit be affected by the small contingent of ex-U. P. Presbyterians in her membership? What restraint will these be able to exercise over others after they have flung their own distinctive testimony to the winds? There is absolutely no reason to believe that the Presbyterian brethren are ready to change a single jot or tittle of their creed, or to alter a single feature of their method of administration, in order to secure union with the United Presbyterian Church."

Dr. Kyle's article is a very strong one against the proposed Union and we have no doubt there are thousands of members in his denomination of the same way of thinking. It seems as if the church has too large a following to think of abandoning its distinctive features.

Besides, if the Pittsburgh brethren should vote for union, there are a lot of things that enter into such a movement that will require grave consideration. One of these is the possibility that many of the U. P. churches may not acquiesce; as was the case when the Presbyterian church undertook, a few years ago, to gobble the Cumberland Presbyterian church. They bit off more than they could chew. A large body resisted, and still maintain a distinctive body.

BUILD NOW.

There is no use in postponing building projects longer in the hope that building materials will be cheaper. This is the verdict of the federal labor and treasury departments and the opinion likewise of most business men conversant with present conditions.

Unquestionably there is going to be a great deal of building this year, regardless of what the doubters may do. In most states the building permits already issued are far ahead of those issued last year or the year before. There is a vast amount of construction that has to be done, regardless of cost. The nation is short about 1,000,000 homes. Public buildings are needed in many cities. There are thousands of miles of roads to be paved. There are almost countless bridges to be built and sewers to be dug. A great deal of railroad and factory development is necessary. In most cases the money for the work can now be obtained. The demand from all these sources is bound to keep up the prices of materials for some time to come, perhaps for years.

Real estate men say, too, that it is safe to put money into buildings now, even at prevailing prices, because reality values which have risen so notably during the war are going to stay up. Thus the money put into a home or office building or factory is not likely to suffer any loss—the value will remain, and in general the worth of the improvement may be expected to increase rather than decrease during the next few years.

Everyday Etiquette

"Is it good form for a young married man to wear his house coat when he is entertaining men and women guests?" asked James.
"A house coat is only worn in the privacy of his home and only when alone, or with his wife. He should never wear his house coat when entertaining either men or women guests," replied his father.

LEGEND OF CHRISTMAS ROSE

Story Merely Beautiful Imagery, but Beautiful Flower Really Does Bloom in Winter.

There is much beauty and pathos in the legend of the Christmas rose, which comes down to us by way of both Italy and England. It concerns a little girl—Madelon, a flower seller, according to the English version; a shepherd's daughter, according to Italian sources. She desired to see the strange little king and followed the shepherds to Bethlehem, foot-sore and weary. But she forgot all her trouble in the joy of seeing the mother and the child," says Mr. Jackson. "She stood entranced by the sight. She saw the rich gifts the wise men had brought. She saw the humble gifts of the shepherds, the loaf of barley bread, the home-made cheese, the fleece of a lamb, white and soft, fit to wrap around the baby's limbs this cold winter night. She was seized by childhood's native spirit of generosity. She, too, must give of her best. The best she ever had to give was flowers. But there are no flowers now, for it is winter, nor has she a farthing of money with which to buy anything else. She looked down at her little sun-browned hands, and a great sob arose in her throat. To have the impulse of love, without the means of expressing it, is real pain, and Madelon burst into tears. Her tears brought an instant response from the Guardian Angel Gabriel, who took her by the hand and touched the ground with his stick, when, lo, rich flowers sprang up on every side. Yes, there really are Christmas roses. They bloom in mid-winter, under a blanket of snow, and their petals never wither. It is true, only the legend tells it in the form of poetry, that is all."

BLANCHE ORTON INVITES NEIL AND BARBARA TO DINNER. CHAPTER XXVI.

Neil came home very late, and so tired that he went directly to bed. The next morning he was in such a hurry to get down town to the office for his mail, which had accumulated during his absence, that I did not attempt to talk with him. I would wait until dinner time.

He was in one of his excitable moods. Things had gone more than well, he said in response to my inquiry about the business upon which he had gone had turned out all right. "I wished I had taken you," he said. "I met several people whom I should have been glad to have you know."

"Next time I'll make you take me! I was horribly lonely most of the time, altho Lorraine and I went to dinner and were joined by Mr. Frederick, and he took us to a show afterward."

"Frederick took you?"
"Yes. It was all right, wasn't it? I knew he was a great friend of yours, so supposed of course it was all right for us to go. Lorraine quite admired him."

"Of course it is all right. Did he ask you any questions about me—my trip to Boston?"
"Not a question." And he had not. But after Neil had gone I recalled that he had had a sort of anxious look upon his face as we talked about Mr. Frederick.

He had been down-town but half an hour when the telephone rang. "You haven't anything on for tonight have you, Bab?" he asked.
"No—why?"

"Blanche Orton just called me up and wanted to know. She is giving an impromptu dinner tonight. She will probably call you up in a few minutes. I called to tell you that even if you had arranged something, to call it off. I am particularly anxious to meet some one who is to be there. Please have my clothes laid out. I shall be detained down here until the last minute."

"Very well."

I had scarcely hung up when the telephone shrilled again. This time it was Mrs. Orton.

"I am giving a very small informal dinner tonight, Mrs. Forbes. Will you and your husband waive ceremony and come?"

"Mr. Forbes just telephoned me. Yes we will come." I had no intention that she should think me in ignorance of the fact that she had called Neil first.

"Yes—I telephoned him as soon as I thought he would be in his office. He is such a popular man that I feared he would make some other engagement before I could reach him." Then: "Dinner at seven."

Once again my jealousy of Blanche Orton asserted itself. Once more I determinedly put it from me. Really I must not be so foolish. One would think I was 18 years old instead of 26—and an old married woman at that. It showed a littleness in my nature that I must rid myself of—or it would grow upon me. At least I had read that "by giving way to jealousy it only increased its power to make one miserable."

I loved Neil. I must always love him. Nothing could change that. He had shown me what love meant, and for that reason I must always love him or else lose my self-respect. I would fight to the death for his love, if need be; but I would not insult myself or him by thinking he held me lightly.

I know that some people claim that people can love many times. But I knew I should love but once. I believe that many second and third marriages, even, are happy ones because they are the only love marriages—that the others were not, tho there may have been liking, respect, even comradeship. But that real love is experienced but once was then, is now, my sure belief.

I would make myself lovely for Neil that night. I had a new gown I never had worn. It was a shimmering thing, all soft shades that were most becoming. Daring as she was in her dress, Blanche Orton would not outshine me.

But I had not gauged her daring. Tomorrow—Neil Brings Barbara a String of Pearls.

Women delegates have even been sent to the national convention at Weimar. Frau Koehler is one of the women recently elected as a delegate to represent the German women.

HERE'S DEFINITION OF "PEP"

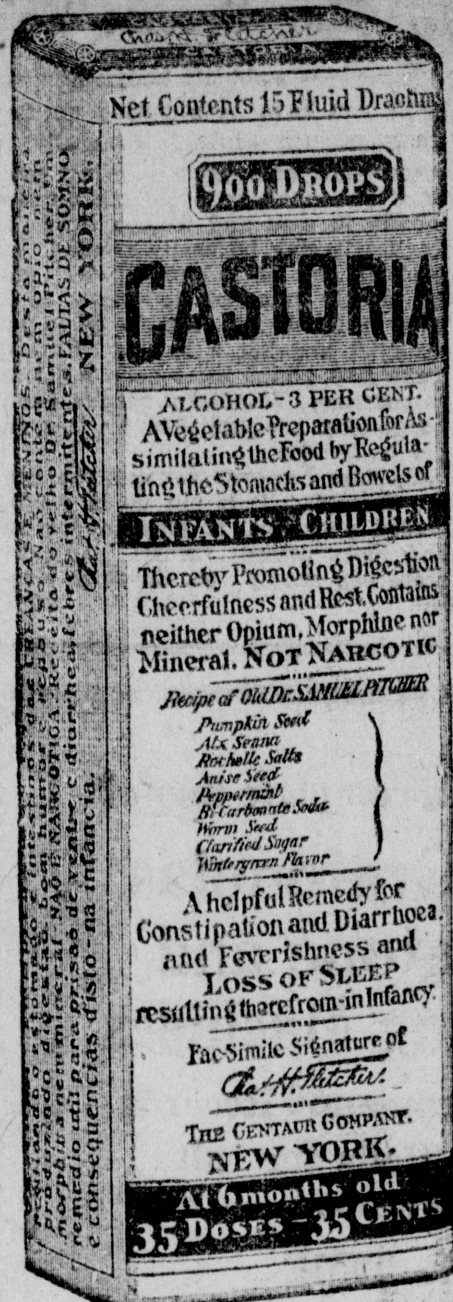

Altogether it's a Quality of Which Its Fortunate Possessor is to Be Envious.

It's the thing which makes the lamb gambol with glee, the colts prance with joy, the calves throw up their tails and run like fury, the birds sing in split-throat notes, the frogs croak upon the creek bank, the insects buzz and hum in the air, the milkman whistle as he jogs along, the blacksmith laughingly beat the iron into shape, the plowman urge his horses with a "gee-up, there," the engineer wave a kiss to his sweetheart as he throws open the throttle, the woodman smilingly plunge his axe into the giant tree, the banker and merchant rush to their work with a cheery "bye-bye," the mechanic and laborer fairly dance to their jobs, the soldier "go over the top," with clinched jaws and courage that knows no fear, the live salesman hie to his calls with shoulders squared, pride in his heart, and nerves a-tingle with anticipation of new success.

Oh, "pep" is anything that puts happiness in the heart, energy in the body, determination in the soul, and invincible courage in the will.—Exchange.

Wonderful Miniature Motor.

A miniature electric motor is described as weighing only 150 grains, and as being inclosed in a shell about an inch and a half long and an inch and a quarter in diameter. The shaft is designed especially for holding tools of dentists or surgeons, but it may be used for fine drills for metals or gems, or for other similar purposes. The motor is driven at a maximum rate of about 5,000 revolutions per minute, and is adapted for use with either direct or alternating current.

Girls! Use Lemons! Make a Bleaching, Beautifying Cream

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Heart is Busy Organ.

Your heart is a very busy organ. While you breathe once, it beats four times. At each beat it sends four pounds of blood through your veins and arteries. The weight of the circulating blood is 20 pounds. When you run, your legs and the other parts of your body need more blood, so your heart must pump faster. It is a ceaseless worker.

DOCTOR SAID LUNGS WERE TOO FAR GONE

But Miss Green's Recovery Proves That There Is Hope for Many Consumptives.

"One of the best physicians in Terre Haute said he could not save me, as my lungs were too far gone. Another physician treated me for three months and then gave me up. Then I had three very bad hemorrhages and was nearly skin and bones. My lungs pained me all the time. Every time I coughed it nearly killed me. I commenced taking Milks Emulsion in April, 1906. My appetite improved. The soreness left my lungs and I commenced to gain in flesh and strength rapidly. My face soon lost that haggard look. I now weigh 159½ pounds. My health is fine, and I am as strong as ever. I owe my life to Milks Emulsion."—Molly Green, 508 S. 2d St., Terre Haute, Ind.

It is not claimed that all cases of consumption are curable, but Milks Emulsion has brought health in many so-called hopeless cases. It can do no harm and costs nothing to try at the maker's risk.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and cathartics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children. No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion. Write this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by Sayre & Hemphill.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

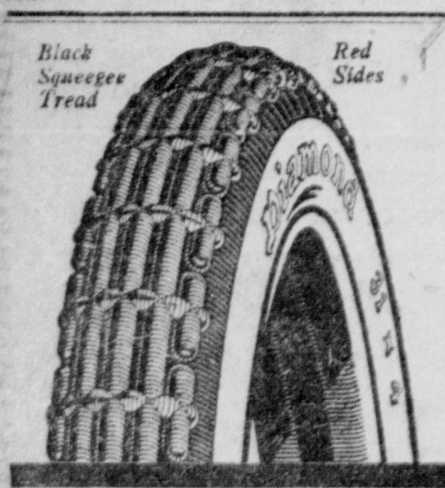

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well, what a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is, if one will adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; this cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast, the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.

The Bell Piano

By OTTILIA F. PFEIFFER

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

"You must lie fallow for a year—perfect rest for mind and body—and you will come out a new man," pronounced Dr. John Burt.

"Which means give up thinking and live only to eat and sleep," submitted Ellis Warren disconsolately.

"That's about it. You will have to change if you continue to pester your brain with inventions. Of course something easy, idle, entertaining, a pleasure instead of a task, is all right." So Ellis Warren went down to Lith-eon, a pretty countryside hamlet, and found just the place that suited him—a rough, but comfortable summer bungalow with a spacious porch, a trout stream at the door, the grand old mountains back of it.

One day on a jaunt he passed through the county seat and was attracted by a sale going on at the instigation of the local hotelkeeper. A stranded company had become delinquent and boniface was realizing on their effects at auction. The odds and ends of trumpery did not greatly attract Warren until a string of musical bells was offered. They comprised the outfit of some unfortunate artist, their clear, ringing tones pleased him and he bid them in.

"Just the thing," he mused with satisfaction. "I see my way clear to enjoy some inventive occupation for a week or two, building a bell piano."

The broad porch was transformed into a workshop. Warren's knack as an inventive genius stood him in good stead. He constructed a frame, supplied it with broad wooden keys, connected them with spring wires to the bells fastened against his home-made sounding board and had an experimental concert all to himself.

The result was most pleasing. Not only were the bells superior in timber, and resonance, but there was a mellow echo to their vibrations that pierced the surrounding woodland and died away in the most exquisite melody.

One afternoon Warren awoke in the hammock just in the humor to put on a tune at his bell piano. Seated before it he struck out a simple pretty dance tune. Half way through with it he turned at the sound of merry childish voices. Glancing over to a nearby clearing he made out half a dozen little figures dancing in time with the music. They were garlands of flowers, and nearby was their chaperon, a lovely young girl of about eighteen. She waved her hand in rhythm with the music and smiled indulgently upon her little brood, evidently on a picnic lark. In the hazy, ambient air the picture of grace and beauty seemed almost unreal to Warren. He ceased playing. Two audacious little ones came running up to the porch.

"Oh, dear, mister!" pleaded one of them, "please don't stop the beautiful music," and after resuming at the bell piano and pausing later, Warren found that the entire group, the young lady included, had come directly up to the porch. Her expressive face showed genuine pleasure as she said:

"How can we thank you for this unexpected treat, and what beautiful harmonies your strange instrument produces."

Warren invited his welcome visitors to the screened porch. The unexpected companionship put him on his mettle. There were lemons and ice on hand, an unopened box of chocolates, and soon he had his juvenile friends in high delight, while he conversed with Miss Ava Dallas.

"How I would like dear Harold to hear your wonderful musical creation!" she spoke longingly. "He is my brother, a cripple, and loves music. I think he could learn to play your bell piano, with its broad keys and simple scale. Which resulted in Warren insisting that Harold be brought upon the scene the next day. All the gloom of helpless illness left the shadowed face of the afflicted lad as he heard the wonderful piano. He acted like a new being when, after an hour's effort, he was able to pick out quite a perfect tune.

Then Warren became a regular visitor at the handsome country mansion, and one day he made Harold frantic with delight as he had the bell piano conveyed to the cripple's home. "You see, an inventor tries of his toy once his work is done," he insisted, "and you enjoy it so much. Take it as a welcome gift."

"Oh, Mr. Warren!" spoke Ava, meeting him near the river one day, "you don't know what you have done to brighten the life of Harold. There was a war meeting at the village last evening, and papa arranged to have the bell piano and Harold taken there. And Harold played all the patriotic tunes, and just thrilled the audience, and he is so proud and happy to think that, helpless as he is, he can go about the country and stir up sentiment for liberty!"

"Aha! shirking instructions, are you?" challenged Doctor Burt, meeting Warren on a city street a little after that.

"Oh, three months have made a new man of me!" declared bronzed, rugged, glowing-faced Warren. "I'm in town to arrange for my marriage. Doctor, you put me up against health, happiness and a lovely wife with your glorious prescription, and Ava expects to thank you when you come to our wedding."

GIRLS! HAVE WAVY, THICK, GLOSSY. HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments try this!

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry and scraggy or too oily, get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? adv

OCEAN HAS KEPT ITS SECRET

No One Knows What Became of the Steamer President, Missing Since March, 1841.

The first steamer to be reported missing was the President, which sailed away from New York as long ago as March, 1841. Perhaps it was because big steamers were then marvels in the eyes of the people of both the old and the new world that the whole public of America and of Europe thought of nothing but the missing liner over a period of many weeks. Ship after ship arrived which had started after the President and still no tidings of the missing ship came to hand.

On April 13—unlucky day—a letter was received by one of the family of a passenger of the President, saying that the missing ship had been driven to Madeira with a damaged rudder. Flags were hoisted and there was joy on both sides of the Atlantic, but alas! it was all a cruel hoax.

Since the ill-starred day when the President left New York there have been many missing ships, and the story of the old American liner has been repeated again and again, with perhaps a slight variation in detail. Some mysteries, although never actually solved, give us something on which to found a theory. The ship which sailed away with a cargo of railway metals, matches and gunpowder, and was afterward reported "missing," may have sunk, but Sherlock Holmes would probably have thought otherwise.

An Awful Break.

Squiggles—"Well, I see that porch climber finally escaped from jail. Broke out, I understand." Squiggles—"Say, now, for the love of billyclubs and badges, don't hand us that old stuff about measles." Squiggles—"Wouldn't think of such a thing; this fellow broke out with chicken-pox."

So generally successful is Hood's Sarsaparilla as a Spring medicine, and in all ailments of the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys, that it may truly be said to give universal satisfaction. It has been before the public for nearly 50 years and today has the largest sale of any sarsaparilla. It thoroughly renovates the blood, adds red corpuscles, creates an appetite, tones the stomach, aids digestion, perfects assimilation, secures 100 per cent. benefit of the food you eat.

Hood's Sarsaparilla represents the wisdom of one of the best physicians Boston ever had, combined with the practical experience of a pharmacist who has been putting up prescriptions for more than 50 years.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe or making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap to make, but it really has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and dreads immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

GRANGE LECTURER PLEASSED WITH THE GREENE CO. GRANGE

Harry A. Caton, lecturer of the Ohio State Grange, who spent Wednesday and Thursday of last week helping County Deputy S. H. Shawhan, was well pleased with the condition of the Grange in Greene county. Mr. Caton's speaking schedule had to be changed somewhat but five Granges were visited including Miami, Caesar Creek, Beaver and Charley. He had spent the entire month of February visiting all sections of the state and so was able to tell the exact condition of the Order in Ohio. He said the Grange was growing all over the state, many new Granges being started and the old ones growing. This is also true of Greene county as practically every Grange in the county has a number of applicants waiting to be taken in. Mr. Caton said the farmers realize now as they never did before that they need organizations, and compared with other years it is an easy matter to talk Grange, especially as it is the oldest and strongest farmers' organization.

The social and educational features of the Grange were strongly endorsed and by its form of organization is well fitted to work along these lines as the order takes in the farmers and his family and is the first order to admit woman on an equality with man.

Caton and the State Legislature both being in session, Mr. Caton naturally laid the greatest stress on the legislative side of the Grange. As space is limited the State Legislature will be considered. Geo. E. Scott, chairman of the legislative committee, and one of the oldest and best farmers' institute speakers in Ohio, is on the job all the time at Columbus. Whenever occasion requires, one or all the rest of the committee is called to Columbus. Sometimes a legislator wants to hear from home before he will support a bill the Grange desires. Whenever occasion requires, one or all the rest of the committee is called to Columbus. Sometimes a legislator wants to hear from home before he will support a bill the Grange desires.

Some proposed Grange legislation is as follows:

1. A tax law that will get intangible property on the tax duplicate.
2. An inheritance tax.
3. An income tax.
4. An occupational or license tax, such as pool room and dancing proprietors who may have a large income and yet pay no tax.
5. A pure seed law.
6. City Relief. The Grange is in favor of keeping the Smith tax law in force and have provision made whereby a city or town or country district can raise their tax rate if they so desire but they can not make the whole state help pay for it as some of the cities of the state are demanding.
7. An auto and truck tax.
8. Favors repair of roads now built and wants less money used in building boulevards.
9. Favors larger unit for school taxation.
10. Opposes classification of property.
11. Opposes raise in salaries of officials at this time.
12. Opposes half holidays at court house. If an official wants to take a holiday he should leave his deputy in charge.

CAREFUL DRIVER SAVES CHILD'S LIFE

Seven years old Charles Edward Thompson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Thompson of West Second street, owes his life to the fact that the automobile in front of which he ran Monday afternoon, was being driven slowly. The driver had the machine under control, but he was unable to stop it before it struck the lad, who dashed suddenly across the street not more than four feet ahead of the car. Dr. W. H. Finley found that the lad's injuries consisted of bruises. The accident occurred near Dr. Finley's office, and the driver carried the lad to the physician, and then took him to his home. The driver was exonerated from blame.

Simple Rule for Success.

The path of success in business is invariably the path of common sense. Notwithstanding all that has been said about "lucky hits" the best kind of success in any man's life is not that which comes by accident; the only good fortune we are justified in hoping for is that which we are capable of making for ourselves. And we can only attain success by constantly thinking success.

SCHMIDT LOSES AWNING CASE AGAINST CITY

Without touching upon the validity of the ordinances Judge Willard J. Wright of Lebanon, rendered a decision Thursday morning dissolving the temporary injunction against the city which was obtained by H. E. Schmidt, to prevent enforcement of the awning and sidewalk ordinances, sustaining the city's demurrer to Mr. Schmidt's petition, and dismissing the petition at the plaintiff's costs. Mr. Schmidt was given ten days in which to file his appeal in the Appellate Court.

Judge Wright held that consideration of the other four features of the two cases, upon which attorneys based their argument, would be idle, at this stage, and any decision by the court as to the validity of the ordinances would be ill timed.

Judge Wright explained to the attorneys his apparent tardiness in rendering the decision. He said that a tedious illness from influenza had been the cause of so long a time elapsing between the presentation of the case, and his decision.

The decision in full follows: In these two cases, several important features present themselves, and have been very ably argued by counsel on both sides.

First—as to whether said Commission had authority to pass the ordinances in question.

Second—as to whether after the privilege of having awnings and displaying his wares on the sidewalks the plaintiff could be deprived of the same.

Third—as to whether the plaintiff had a valuable vested right, of which he cannot be deprived.

Fourth—as to whether said ordinances violate the rule as to uniformity, and whether they are reasonable.

Fifth—as to whether the plaintiff has an adequate remedy at law.

Taking up these different features in the inverse order, the court will first consider as to whether the plaintiff has an adequate remedy at law.

These injunctions prevent the officials of the city of Xenia from enforcing the ordinances in question, from institution of suits at law followed by the arrest and trial of the plaintiff herein for the alleged violations of same.

In conformity with the Third Circuit Court case 545 "Arnold vs. the Village of Van Wert," and the general principles of equity, this cannot be done until the right of the complainant is established at law. No such allegation is set forth in either petition.

Therefore the motion in either case to vacate and dissolve the temporary injunction heretofore granted, is sustained, the demurrer to the petition is sustained, the injunction dissolved and the petition dismissed at plaintiff's costs.

The consideration of the other four features of the two cases would be idle and any decision by this court at this stage as to the validity of the ordinances in question would be ill timed. Appeal bond is fixed at $100 in each case.

Rodents Are Thrift Enemies.

Rodents are the enemies of thrift. In addition to the destruction caused by rats and house mice, which runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars annually, rodents ranging from ground moles to prairie dogs are estimated to do an average of pretty close to a billion dollars a year damage to agriculture in America. Observe that we would not put them into the same family with rats and rabbits; they are included among the rodents. In regions where the population is sparse and hunters are not numerous their ferocity makes them a constant menace. —Thrifty Magazine.

DISCOURAGED

You have tried everything. It's the same old story. I hear it everyday. Your courage is gone, your faith is gone. The end would be gladly welcomed, but even that won't come. What would you give to be a well man—a well woman? What wouldn't you give? What wouldn't you do? You are, are yielding, are being made to feel your subtle power. Why not your case? I will leave it to your intelligence and good judgment. Slaves to mock or scorn, you deserve to suffer. 95 per cent of the supposed incurable cases could be relieved physically and mentally, if they would only confess it to a friend, family, or better, a skilled physician. Don't argue I've tried electrically with no results—You may have no idea what an up-to-date electrically equipped institution really is.

IF I ONLY KNEW JUST WHAT AILS ME.

How often have you made this remark? Yet you continue to suffer, hesitating to seek aid because you consider that medical attention would be too expensive, or, perhaps, are you dissatisfied with past treatment? Remember, all the wishing, hoping and praying never cured any real physical ailment. Then, why continue to grope in the dark, suffering pain, discomfort and dissatisfaction?

An X-ray examination will cost you one dollar and is considered by the medical profession as one of the greatest aids to a correct diagnosis. If your case is not incurable you can be treated in one of the most completely equipped offices in the Middle West. 25 years' experience.
